Lions are which means they only eat meat.

Lions eat 40kg of meat every day. That's almost 200 burger patties!

Lions are the only cats that live in groups called a, and there can be between 10 and 30 lions in a pride.

Lionesses do the for the family, while the male protects and defends the pride.

A male lion stands about from the ground and a female is around tall.

Males weigh about, and females A bag of rice is 1 kilogram, so now times that by 200 and you know how heavy a male lion is!

Lions have very good, which helps them hunt in the dark, when it is cooler.

A lion can run at per hour.

Lions can to communicate with each other and this can be heard over 8km away.

The lion is the only that has a large mass of hair around his head, called a

Make your own lion mask by colouring the lion face in your favorite colours, cutting it out and stringing thin elastic through the sides.

FOUR PAWS TIP:

Paste the cut out lion face on a piece of thin cardboard or a paper plate to have a sturdier mask.

Are you helping to protect or hurt lions?

Tick the pictures where you feel lions are being hurt with a  or being protected with a

Remember Animal Heroes:

Lions should not be kept in circuses or in zoos.

Lions are not pets, they are wild animals

Meet lioness Savannah

Quick facts:

- Savannah was rescued as a cub from a breeding farm.
- She is often seen on top of the structure in her enclosure looking out over the land.
- She recently celebrated 13 years with FOUR PAWS at LIONSROCK Big Cat Sanctuary.

Meet Savannah, this beautiful lioness is a South African lion who was rescued from a breeding farm and brought to LIONSROCK 13 years ago.

She and her brother were part of a program to try and re-wild them and let them live in a nature reserve to hunt and live freely. Sadly the local lions at the reserve killed Savannah's brother, and it was clear that she would not be safe there. Luckily she found a forever home at LIONSROCK!

Did you know?

In the wild, lionesses do the hunting for the family, while the male protects and defends the pride.
