

BIONICS EXPERIMENT

- stealing ideas from nature -

Nature has invented quite practical things and humans have adopted many ideas for ourselves.

For example, the velcro fastener: Anyone who has ever had burdocks thrown at them and laboriously removed them from their clothes will immediately understand which plant played a role in this invention.

Today we have a little bionics experiment for you to try out.
Later, you can look up behind the plus signs what should happen and why.